FROM THE bethel town office

Word was received at the Town Office that many eligible citizens in recent years have not availed themselves of the Elderly Householders Tax and the Rent Refund Program. Last year the legislature deappropriated over $2 million from this program because it was not being used. The purpose of this article is to outline the Elderly Householders Tax and Rent Refund program.

This program provides property tax relief for those persons over age 62 years of age who own or rent living quarters in Maine and who meet certain income guidelines. Disabled persons over 55 years of age may also qualify. However, the number of households filing claims peaked in 1979 continued on Page Five details. Cindy Bean could be contacted for more information.

Safety Tip of the Week

This is back to school week for the area youngsters. Remember a few road tips to keep our children safe. (1) Stop for a stopped school bus, when approaching from either direction. (2) School buses are required to stop at all railroad crossings. Be prepared to stop also when following a bus. (3) The school bus will flash yellow warning lights before it flashes its red warning lights when either letting children on or letting them off. Be extra cautious at these times. (4) Most school bus drivers will pull to the side of the road and motion cars behind them to pass. Wait for them; as they can see further ahead than a car behind them.

Remember, any accident involving a school bus involves many individuals. Please be extra cautious around school buses during this coming school year to make it a safe and happy one for everyone.

NOTES FROM THE WOODSTOCK HISTORICAL SOC.

Historical researchers might do well to do a little research into the theory of writing before attempting to write a history. Often their works are dull because they are a mere chronology of facts. On the other hand, writers of fictionalized history, the so-called "historical romances," can go to the other extreme and warp facts to make them more "interesting."

Oddly enough, we have only to look back a ways in history itself to find the proper balance in an excellent theory by George Eliot (her real name was Mary Ann Evans), one of the great authors of the nineteenth century. She claimed historical research needed to strike a balance between cold fact and too fanciful imagination: "The exercise of a veracious imagination in historical picturing seems to be capable of a development that might help the judgment greatly with regard to present and future events. By veracious imagination, I mean the working out in detail of the various steps by which a political or social change was reached, using all extant evidence and supplying deficiencies by careful analogical creation . . . I want something from a doctrinal point of view, and something different from the schemed picturesqueness of ordinary historical fiction. I want brief, severely conscientious reproductions, in their concrete incidents, of pregnant movements in the past."

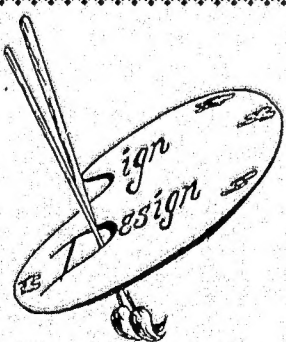

Thus we can learn from history if authors are honest but at the same time imaginative enough to draw logical conclusions from their research. There are "pregnant movements of the past" for us to study that may have considerable bearing on our own time.

Our town and neighbors were shocked at the accident on the Sabbath Road, Derrick Andrews, 20, was killed Saturday night. Our sympathy is with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Andrews, his grandparents.

Troy and Raymond Fox have been spending some time with their father and family, Larry Fox, at Heald's Pond.

Bob Cope hurt his back and is confined to his bed.

Carl Estes of Brunswick was here at the farm on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Smith and Ada Malia went on a trip Monday to Errol, N. H., for breakfast on to the Rangeley Lakes, had a picnic for dinner. Turned out to be clear and the hills and mountains were real pretty.

Rose Mary Smith, Michael Stackhouse called at Iva and Fred's Saturday. Also another caller was Ada Malia.

Due to a death in the family, Bishop Cadigan did no preach Sunday. Joe Moody took his place. Donald Morrison was on vacation. Good crowd at church.

Paul Carter of New Hampshire called on the Glen Moors and Pauline Smith Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Estes stayed over the week end at the farm. Iva Fox, her children (8) and grandchildren, over 30 present, had a reunion at Stoneham Camp Lake Keewaydin.

— Eveline B. Vatcher, Corres. —

Earl Cordwell returned from Norway hospital on Tuesday where he had been one week for treatment.

Eveline Vatcher was at her doctor's Tuesday and is expecting to be on oxygen when she goes for her next check up. The dusty road isn't good for emphysema and asthma.

Pvt. Scott Hsley, Fort Benning, Ga., is on a 30 day furlough for medical purposes.

The benefit supper for the Roberts family was a success and a sell out and we are all glad. It will relieve their minds to know their friends, neighbors, relatives and all are rooting for them.

Peter and Robin Vatcher returned to their home in Lynn, Mass., Thursday. They were here for four weeks and loved it all, swimming, berrying, etc.

The raccoons beat Harlan to the draw on the corn patch for they ate the corn and tread the corn stalks all down. Looks like Harlan will have to buy his corn or go without. Dr. Waite may get some nice fat coons later on.

Nathan Hsley fell from a load of hay and broke a bone in the back of his neck and his collar bone.

The moles started on Joe Vatcher.

Legion Picnic Big Success

Stone-Smart Legion #82, Norway, held their annual picnic, Sunday, Aug. 19, at the home of Clyde and Jo Stanton, in North Waterford. Over 40 signed the guest book.

There were all kinds of games for everyone to enjoy, even the small fry. The men seemed to enjoy horse-shoes most, while the ladies gathered around to cheer them on. There was a swing for the kiddies, and even some of the larger ones enjoyed trying it out, along with croquet and badminton. The picnic was served at 1 p. m. with Larry White and Elmer Abbott mastering the huge grill loaded with hamburgers and hot dogs. The ladies did themselves proud with all the lovely salads, while the hostess Jo Stanton and Joyce Bickford came through with two huge pots of baked beans. Watermelon was served, ice cold, for dessert.

The day was perfect, no rain and just enough sunshine to make it a lovely day.

Lee Millett of Norway has finished shingling the house and porch roof for Jo Stanton.

ALBANY HUNT'S CORNER AND VICINITY

Kathy Bennett, Corres.

It is a beautiful morning—the birds are singing and you hear an occasional Bluejay hollering in the distance. That combined with the constant chirping of the crickets indicates fall is just around the corner.

Dave and Mary Ellen Scribner called on Dave's folks, Fred and Lib Scribner on Sunday.

Recent callers at the Hugh and Edith Stearns home have been Michelle Imman and Doug Bennett, Franklin Barton, Frank and Terri Howard and children, June Imman, Barb Imman and Millie Pope, Christine Hatstat and Billy Rich, Frances Kimball and granddaughter.

The big project at the Barton Farm is the construction of a new heifer barn. We have all been lending a hand now and then. Never knew there were so many nails to pound!

Recent visitors there have been Roger Harvey and Grampa Frank Barton, Mr. and Mrs. James Conley and Kevin, and Darlene Barton.

Kelly Andrews returned home on Thursday after spending a few days with her grandmother Sarah Andrews. Lynn Andrews is now staying there for a few days. Other callers have been Shirley Corbett, Stacey and Rodney Bean.

The summer's busy pace is slowing a little here at K-D's Acres. Dave returned home Saturday after spending the summer working at Camp Fernwood in Oxford, Doug is spending a few days visiting his grandmother and aunts at Bryant Pond. Dick starts a three week vacation on Friday.

Margaret Barton and I spent a couple days last week at my aunt's cottage in Ocean Park. We had a grand time. We brought my mother, Eva B. Twichell home as she had spent the week with her sister, Dot Hooper.

Saturday night Dick and I went out to supper with Flo and Warren Cairns.

Recent callers here have been Debbie Seames and Kathy Tice, Barb Imman, Margaret Barton, Cleo Billings, Mona Twichell, Faye MacDonald and my 97 year old grandmother, Flossie Twichell.

Safety Tip—Describing a Pain—

Everyone knows what a pain is but few know how to describe a pain in medically significant terms. Here are a few descriptive terms that are useful to think about when you, or your child, have a pain.

Location: Where does it hurt? Is the pain localized or spread out? Onset: Did it start suddenly or gradually? Do you think that you know what started it? Character: Is it dull? Sharp? Crampy? Does it come and go? Duration: How long have you had the pain? When you get it how long does it last? Intensity: mild (noticeable), moderate (bad enough to interfere with normal activities, severe (very bad). Made better by: food, medicine, breathing, exercise, position change? Other assorted symptoms: fever, vomiting, pain with urination, diarrhea, headache, blood in urine or feces? Past history: did you ever have this type of pain before? Do you have any other health problems? Do you take any medicines.

This method works for describing just about any type of pain. If you gather this type of information before you contact a health professional you will greatly aid them in making the correct diagnosis.

"MUSICAL SUPPER" AUG. 23
A RESOUNDING SUCCESS

Again the happy combination of a tasty supper, some enjoyable entertainment, and an overflow crowd of over 250, made the benefit "Musical Supper" sponsored by the Northern Lights Singers on Thursday, Aug. 23, at the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post in Locke Mills, a resounding success.

After welcoming remarks by Stan Martin, Richard Felt, harmonica, and Bill Riley, accordion, strolled among the diners offering a variety of peppy tunes. An instrumental group consisting of Zeke Trask, piano; Johnny Howe, sax; Pete Andrews bass fiddle; Richard Felt, harmonica; and Elden Hathaway, drums, pleased the super-goers with a medley of old familiar melodies. Jim Burke then presented a piano solo in his most distinctive style. The Northern Lights singers, under the direction of Susan Glines brought smiles of approval and enthusiastic applause with two selections from their present concert program. The current roster includes Carmen Bartlett and Kim Strout, sopranos; Ernestine Riley and Peggy Jane, altos; Jack Roberts and Stan Martin, tenors; Wayne Strout and Bill Riley, basses.

The program continued with several well-received renditions by the talented vocal trio of Kathy Burke, Linda Stowell, and Becky Imman, accompanied by Jim Burke on piano.

The well-known duo of Rudy and JoAnne Royer delighted the audience with an assortment of old time and fancy tune selections featuring "Amazing Grace" done in sing-a-long fashion and the always popular "Orange Blossom Special." South Woodstock's own Erion Hadley arrived just in time to give a stellar performance with his big 120 bass accordion.

After awarding several door prizes, M. C. Ernestine Riley joined Irene Mills and Bill Riley in an interesting and spirited vocal medley of tunes from yesteryear.

The instrumental group, with the addition of Sterling and Irene Mills, trumpet and vocal; Erion Hadley, accordion; Stan Durgan, fiddle; and Dot Canwell, whistling and piano, closed the program with an extended interlude of popular numbers old and new.

The proceeds of the evening will be donated to the Jack Roberts family of West Paris who were involved in a tragic auto accident Aug. 4. Jack sings tenor with the Northern Lights while wife, Linny, and son, Scott, have served as sound system operators.

Susan Glines and Ernestine Riley, co-ordinators of the benefit affair, along with Stan Martin, general manager of the Northern Lights, wish to express heartfelt thanks to all those who contributed to the program's success and especially offer a sincere apology to the few who could not be served because of the much larger than expected crowd.

of her many contributions to Bethel, particularly her native East Bethel and how grateful the present generation should be for her work in local history and community organizations. This was followed by an unveiling of a plaque honoring Miss Bean by her nephew Francis Bean of Woodstock. A memorial prayer was delivered by Rev. Norman Rust of the West Bethel Union Church.

Following this, those attending moved from Bartlett Cemetery which dates back to the 1780s to East Bethel Church, Bethel's second oldest surviving religious structure built about 1830. This structure has recently undergone restoration of its ceiling and members of the church last week repaired the carpeting so that it looked much like it did in an earlier era. Refreshments were served and Mary Valentine played several old-time church favorites on the organ.

Long concerned about the welfare of Bartlett Cemetery, Miss Bean published in 1959 "East Bethel Road" to raise funds to fence and maintain the cemetery. Proceeds from the book were such that this was not possible during her lifetime, but she was able to establish a small fund to endow the cemetery. Seven years after her death the fence was built and brush cut within the cemetery.

Records indicate that the first grave may have been dug in Bartlett Cemetery as early as 1780, six years after the town was first settled. The cemetery measures 128 x 180 feet and is filled with graves, most of them unmarked but a few possess slate or crudely cut field stones. There is but one marble marker, that belonging to Jeremiah Andrews, a soldier of the American Revolution and a founder of the town.

Eva Marion Bean was born in East Bethel in 1895. She graduat-

NOTES FROM THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday morning at the L'Auberg Inn on Mill Hill. Chamber members Peter and Pat Callioras offered space and secretarial services to the Chamber in their new building in Locke Mills. The Chamber map is on display at the Edelweiss store and director Robin Zinchuk has been asked to prepare another map for the R.F.D. #1 Bulletin Board. Guest Joan Putnam, a representative of the Sunday River Resort Service made a proposal to develop a coupon book and information packet for guests to encourage skiers to shop and dine in the Bethel area. Representative Jeff Mills spoke to the Chamber on tourism, business development, transportation and taxation issues. After the success of the Down-East advertising project, the Chamber is considering a similar co-op advertising project in the Maine Motorist. The next regular directors' meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 4, at 7:30 a.m. at the King's Inn. A meeting of the entire membership is set to discuss the content of the Bethel information booklet at 7:30 p.m. at R.F.D. #1 on Tuesday, Sept. 4. Everyone is urged to attend.

Long interested in local history, she spent more than five years researching and writing "East Bethel Road." She also was the founder and first secretary of the Bethel Historical Society. When she died in 1969 her ashes were scattered in Bartlett Cemetery but her official marker is on the family lot in East Bethel Cemetery beside the 1830 Church.

Eligibility is based on both age and income criteria. At least one member of the household must have reached the age of 62 in the previous calendar year or, for an individual receiving federal disability payments, an unmarried claimant must have reached the age of 55. A married claimant who is at least 55 can qualify if both spouses are receiving federal disability payments.

Claims for a 1984 refund must be filed between Aug. 1, and Oct. 15, 1984. The program is administered by the Bureau of Taxation and questions regarding forms and eligibility should be directed

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Each summer season I usually visit at least once a spot on the Maine Coast. Of course the essence of the North East Coast is its islands, the bumps that sprinkle it from one end to the other. Each is unique but alike in natural attributes. This week I traveled many miles with my cousins to a historic town on Casco Bay.

The rising sun brought a glorious day, with air that made me breathe deeply, to stretch my lungs, always trying to get another ounce or two, of the delight. All along the way we enjoyed Maine. The alert traveler sees patches of untouched wilderness, a fine stand of birch and maple, a wrinkled stretch of rocky shore with its little coves and tidal pools. The shoreline itself is mostly rock. When tides are right there's a rush or boom of near by surf.

The drive about which I am writing is from Greenwood City to Harpswell. This picturesque town, spreads over much territory. It has been called the "founding of Casco Bay" because of the variety of its islands including Orr's and Bailey's Islands.

All the way through the Harpswells there were roads running both to the right and left off the main highway. We experienced several of them while trying to find the home of a relative.

The Center had many white houses surrounded by trees. We noticed and spoke of one perfectly square house. I have read since that it is a Meeting House the interior of which is clamshell walls, brown wainscoting on the balcony and high pulpit under an arched window. I would like to have seen it.

We went through South Harpswell and on to a restaurant near the point of a peninsula, a rocky headland. After a shore dinner we looked around a bit.

An outcrop of rocks; waters smoothed—waiting for the incoming tide, to whisper up their sides. Minute rafts of sand will lift ever so gently, float away intact only to disintegrate at the touch of a ripple.

We left for home and along the way I noticed familiar scenes. There were fields of hay enclosed by stone walls, maple groves, sparkling surfaces of tideless water. In these were pond lilies, pickerel weeds, and cattails above which dragon flies hover. Things were green and quiet, and more than that, small and close; your own home towns.

Maine
"Maine is my haunt of girlish dreams;
I've trod her rocks and loam;
Her woods and fields and ragged hills
Have been to me as home.
The one place in this giant world
Where one feels freedom's strain,
And laughs and basks in its grand light
Here in my beloved Maine."

The biggest and best news of the week — the men at the farm have finished haying. Leonas and Fay Holt went to Augusta on Saturday to call on son Robert, then on to stay for the week end with their other son, David, and family, Dexter.

Duane Hayes and son, Scot, West Paris, were Saturday's visitors at the Hayes Homestead. Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cole of Raymond came, also Joanne and Loanne Hayes, West Paris.

Frank and Dorothy Curtis had the following callers: Gloria Ring, Audrey Porter, Peter Mer-

VCARD OF THANKS
I want to express my deepest thanks to my family, loved ones, relatives, co-workers, neighbors, and friends for their prayers, support, encouragement and many expressions of thoughtfulness during my hospitalization and since my return home. The cards, flowers, visits and gifts have all meant so much. The kindnesses of the Albany Church and Circle and Judith Grover Tent D.U.V., Bryant Pond, are greatly appreciated. I also wish to thank most sincerely my doctors and the nurses, dietary staff, and other staff at Rumford Community Hospital for the excellent care, and support I received.

Very special thanks to my folks and my sister and her family for all they have done and continue to do.

Sent in by Viva Whitman:

It won't be long before the children go back to school and I'm sure some of them are happy about it and others hate to see the day come. It's no different that way than it ever was, only now, they start school a little earlier in the fall than when I went to school.

Haven't been very good at keeping track of what has gone on this week. It is awful to be so homesick that your face aches, but that has been the case for me. For some unknown reason, my sinuses have gotten plugged and my whole head has ached so much that I forgot to write in my book as I should have.

Monday afternoon, I went to the doctor to see if he had any report from sinus x-rays and he hadn't, so didn't want to prescribe anything different. I decided I needed some help from someone, so got on the phone and called Farmington to see if a doctor could see me and perhaps find out why I keep getting ear infection.

Had just gotten home on Wednesday when Wynona came with Courtney to see the night with Grandma. The last time we tried it, she acted home-sick and didn't stay but was alright this time. No one couldn't get any work done at the clinic as she said auditors had taken over, so she came back and stayed well into the afternoon. We went up to Al and Pat's new home to see how things are coming along as Nonie hadn't ever been up. I wanted her to see the view from up there. It is spectacular and will be even more so when the leaves turn color.

Russell has worked on the back steps this week and got them done Wednesday night and was fixing a pathway so it wouldn't be too rough to travel on.

Russell fixed a swing for Courtney when Nonie came up. She had a plastic one made special for little folks, but the ropes were too long so Uncle Joe fixed them and Courtney had a great time swinging Wednesday night after the dishes were done. Karen came down to play with her, too, so she had a good time. Couldn't have asked for a child to go to bed any better than she did. She got up Thursday morning with a smile as usual, even if she was at Grandma's house. She gives me so much pleasure watching her play and the expressions on her face are so much fun to see. She's quite apt to start dancing when music comes on T.V. or at home when her Dad turns on the record player. It is great to see the love she has for music.

Nonie and Mike came to get her Thursday afternoon after lunch and shortly after that, Russell took me to North Bridgton to see the doctor.

Of course we had to go to wash on Friday morning and do other errands about town in Norway and South Paris so was gone all morning. Russell was going to pick beans in the afternoon, but show-ers came up.

Saturday, Russell mowed more weeds and I didn't do much as we were expecting to go to Grange at South Paris where I was to take the sixth degree and join State Grange. Russell already belongs and I do now. However I had quite a night as the degree calls for flowers and I am allergic to the smell of roses and when you get over 70 of them in a hall that is full of people so there isn't much air, it can really get to you. It was a beautiful ceremony. The drill team of ladies from Oxford did a splendid job in their march and it was something to watch. You could tell they had put in many hours to get it just right. I can't praise the ladies enough for the work they did, or the State Grangers for the way they performed their duties also.

Got up on Sunday with the idea of making zucchini relish. Russell had gotten lids for the jars on Saturday and what do you think happened? He got the wrong size, so he went to Trap Corner Store to get the right ones, some onions as I didn't have enough and more jars. While he was gone I started getting the zucchini ready, as well as what onions I did have. We grind the zucchini and onions and peppers in the old meat grinder to make the relish. I had Russell get me some more zucchini from the garden before he left for the store and had it most all done when he got back. He took over grinding the onions and peppers and we put the zucchini and onions to drain, after sprinkling them with salt. We let them set until after lunch, then went to work putting all the right ingredients together to make the relish. Russell had found some nice large green peppers and sweet red ones at the store on Friday, so the relish looks nice with the red all through it. We made a triple batch and expect it will last us throughout the winter. However, the zucchini keep growing so we will probably have some to get rid of somehow. I freeze some to make bread, which is very good. It seems as though zucchini never stop growing though and the vines produce more than we can use as a rule. Hope some of the others in the family want some, but at this point I don't know. It makes the house smell good with the relish

The Bethel office is the contract site, and the length of the contract is from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30, 1985. Quotations must be furnished by Sept. 7. For more information or to obtain solicitation forms, please call, visit, or write the Bethel office.

The water level at the Patte Brook Marsh was lowered in early summer to air out the mud flats and to encourage aquatic vegetation to grow. An increase in vegetation will increase cover and food for wildlife. This past week, Forest Service personnel began to raise the water level to ensure adequate flows for salmon rearing downstream.

Approximately 60 acres of wildlife openings are being maintained this summer. A brush hog is currently mowing 30 acres, while the remaining 30 acres are being cut by hand. The purpose is to discourage tree growth and to keep the area open, with desirable forbs, grasses and shrubs growing in the opening. Most of the openings range from 1/2 to 4 acres in size and were created in conjunction with timber harvested. Over 100 species of wildlife frequent openings in the National Forest. The 17-acre Bear Orchard Wildlife Area will be the site of opening maintenance during the next nine months. Replacement of the vandalized signs has yet to take place at the vandalized orchard, but will

WALKING GROUP INVITES YOU

The Bethel walking group known as the "Walkie Talkies" invites you to join them. The group assembles in front of the Bethel Library at 6 a. m. It then proceeds to the Common for a 10 minute warm-up, followed by a three mile walk. Paces vary from fast to slow. The group, organized back in April by Merton Brown, walks the three mile route Monday through Friday. On Saturdays the walk is extended to approximately six miles and varies in locations. The three mile walk starts at the Library, goes up Broad to Mason, down Chapman to Main, across Railroad to Route 2, over Route 2 to Lover's Lane, up Mill Hill, and ends with a couple of trips around the Common. Most of the walkers are back at the perintendent Dewaine Craig. Mr. Craig was also assisted by Guidance Director Daniel Hart who coordinated material for the taping. In late November, five individuals were cast in a 30 second public service announcement entitled "Working Together." This commercial was aired by WCSH (Channel 6 in Portland) periodically, this past winter and spring. Simultaneously, this public service announcement tape was entered in the National School Public Relations Association's 1984 School and College Publications Contest. Of over 1,000 entries, Telstar Regional School received one of 30 Award of Merit honors.

Last week, special recognition was given to Telstar Regional High School senior Linda Lowe, Telstar Regional High School teacher Rodney Abbott, Bethel residents and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norm Clanton and Telstar Regional High School Guidance Director Daniel Hart for their roles in the "Working Together" public service announcement tape.
